NetTeller FAQ

Is there a monthly fee for using NetTeller?

No. Eagle Federal Credit Union offers NetTeller Online Banking to its members at no charge. However, your Internet provider may charge a fee for your Internet access.

How secure is my personal information?

The NetTeller Online Banking site uses 128-bit encryption which ensures unauthorized individuals cannot view your personal information. Access is also protected by ensuring only you know your Online Banking ID and password.

Will NetTeller log me out of my session if I forget to log out?

Yes. After 10 minutes of inactivity, the system will close out your access automatically.

How do I add a new Eagle FCU account to my NetTeller Online Banking?

To add a new Eagle FCU account to your Online Banking, contact a Credit Union representative.

Do I have to rename my accounts on each device I access NetTeller Online Banking?

No. The account pseudo names or "nicknames" will appear in your NetTeller Online Banking homepage wherever you log in.

How do I enable smart-phone access for my NetTeller Online Banking accounts?

For instructions on enabling smart-phone access to your NetTeller Online Banking accounts, please see enrollment instructions under the GoDough Mobile Banking section of www.eaglefederal.org.

Can I check my balance and history from my mobile device if it is not a smart-phone?

Yes. NetTeller users can send commands via text to check their account balances and history through GoDough Mobile Banking. GoDough Mobile Banking TEXT enrollment instructions can be found on the GoDough Mobile Banking page at www.eaglefederal.org.

E-Statement FAQ

I downloaded Adobe Acrobat, but I still can't see the statements.

If you chose 'Save this program to disk' when you downloaded Acrobat, the program may not be installed correctly. When you download Adobe Acrobat again, make sure you choose the 'Open\Run the program from its current location' option instead of the 'Save this program to disk' option.

I'm having a problem with E-statements or a problem with the program. Who do I contact for help?

During business hours, contact Member Service at (225)927-1900 or toll free (888)281-8485. After hours, please send an e-mail message to: mservice@eaglefederal.org.

It is the first of the month. When will I be able to see my statement?

Depending on our end of the month processing schedule, statements will normally be available by the fourth day.

Can I use the "Back" feature of the browser to go to a page that I have already been on, or do I need to use the menus to get there? Will it work the same or cause a problem?

Yes, you can use the Back key to return to prior pages. However, for security reasons, some pages automatically expire so that you cannot return to them. If you encounter this, simply use the menus to go to the location you wish.

How do I print my statement?

File -> Print Or Click on printer icon

How can I save a statement to my PC?

Click on disk icon (on Acrobat tool bar)
Choose location & name and click 'Save' Or Right click on date link (before opening statement)
Left click on 'Save Target As...'
Choose location & name and click 'Save'

How many statements are on-line?

Currently, statements are available from August, 2012. Statements for the past 12 months will be available as they are produced..

When I elect to receive E-Statements, will I still receive a paper statement?

No. But if you are enrolled in E-Statements, you can simply print your E-Statement for your records.

How do I see my kids' accounts?

During business hours, contact Member Service at (225)927-1900 or toll free (888)281-8485.
